Comments:

When we first learned about this program, we were very hesitant. We only wanted to try it for 3 months, just to see if it would work for our shop. We even had our credit card ready to pay for 3 months, but they wouldn't sell it to us that way. They explained this program needs time because it builds momentum and gets better over the months, and if we were going to do it, we had to do it the right way. After asking a thousand questions, we decided to follow their advice. Now, in our fourth month, we are receiving around 30 coupons every week. With our average ticket of $13, that's almost $400 a week, more than $1,500 a month, and many of these customers are visiting us for the first time. Now we can clearly see that the program works, and we're happy we trusted the process. We're even signing up our new fusion restaurant in Buena Park for the same program when it opens later this year.
